

Following up on the great success of eight volumes of the "Best of the Flatt & Scruggs TV Show", these two DVDs contain more never before available performances by this legendary bluegrass band from their long lost TV Show of the 1950s and 1960s.

Flatt and Scruggs are one of the 2 or 3 most respected and most popular bluegrass bands of all time. Along with Bill Monroe, they propelled this great style into a widely successful and artistically praised musical format. They left a legacy of wonderful recordings made in the 1950s and 1960s on both Columbia and Mercury and were star attractions on the Grand Ole Opry for many years.

Earl Scruggs, together with Bill Monroe, helped create the whole style of bluegrass. His highly influential new banjo style was the single most important factor in defining bluegrass, and almost all other banjo players immediately jumped on his bandwagon, as did almost all new players for the next 50 years!

The performances in these DVDs showcase Flatt and Scruggs in their prime with their group the Foggy Mountain Boys playing many of their most famous songs as well as many other bluegrass classics.
